DISMAL FAILURE.

During the past two weeks many citizens of Louisville have been the recipients of copies of a vile anti-Catholic sheet published at Aurora, a small town in Missouri. A glance was sufficient to reveal its character and the Menace was quickly consigned to the waste basket and garbage barrel. This was done by Protestant and Catholic alike, and the dismal failure of the outcast to obtain a standing here speaks well for Louisville. The purpose of the Menace is too transparent to deceive anyone. It intended, if possible, to stir up a religious strife here by reviling and misrepresenting the recent great Catholic Federation convention, the State and city officials and all who in any way contributed toward maintaining Kentucky's reputation for hospitality and religious freedom.

The Menace people, and thank God there are not many of them, had hoped that Catholics would become aroused, would pass resolutions and call attention to their outcast sheet, and thus pave the way for its sale here. But how different the result. Catholics received the vile thing as a huge joke, while Protestants received it with disgust, shamed that such a paper was published in their name. To all here it is gratifying to know that the Menace has defeated itself by cementing the spirit of toleration that has always existed here. Its vituperative attacks have caused non-Catholics to think and investigate, with the inevitable result that all Christian men condemn its futile efforts to create religious hatred in this country.

Untruthful and unreliable, without honor or standing, the Menace and like publications are doing more good than they know. They are awakening the people of the country to the dangers that confront them from bigotry and intolerance and make apparent to all their utter disregard for the constitution and glorious traditions that have made this country, the home of the free and the brave, the greatest and best the world has ever known.

Like all such, the Menace will have its short day and then die an ignominious death.

SPLENDID ANSWER.

The reception and entertainment tendered the Grand Army of the Republic by the Knights of Columbus at Los Angeles last week was a splendid answer to Gen. Miles and his "Guardians of Bigotry," who accused the Knights of "conspiring to turn the Government over to the Pope." Past Commander-in-Chief John E. Gillman, who is a fourth degree Knight, delivered the principal address and was roundly applauded when he said the civil war gave a death blow to sectarianism in the United States, and alluded to the splendid services of the Irish Brigade as well as the German regiments in the civil war. Before adjourning the G. A. R. passed a special vote of thanks to the Knights. They also gave old Dan Sickles the cold shoulder.

WILL BRING SUCCESS.

William G. McAdoo, builder of the Hudson tunnels, who is competent to speak on the subject, has a simple prescription for succeeding in life's work. There are many rules for success, and nearly everybody can give you one. Mr. McAdoo gives us this:

"No matter what situation in life you may occupy, no matter how humble it is, make it your rule to do the work better than any one ever did it before. I do not care how insignificant the part, if you have the spirit and the ambition and do your duty better than anybody else ever did it, the time will come when your superior will notice the fact, and when he wants some one for a more responsible position he will pick the man who has exhibited these qualities. There is a thing which the French call 'esprit de corps'—a spirit of common devotedness, of common sympathy or support among all the members of an association or body. It means comradeship and a common pride in the general work in which we are engaged and in each other. The man or woman who has this spirit of common devotedness, of absolute loyalty to his or her work for the sake of the common good, and who never slights any task, however insignificant, is bound to make a success of life."

The threat of William D. Haywood, Socialist and leader of the Workers of the World, to tie up every factory, every mill and every railroad in this country unless two of his followers, arrested in the Lawrence textile strike are released, should open the eyes of American trades unionists. These so-called "industrial workers" are enemies of the American Federation of Labor as well as the Government. They are but Socialists of the worst type.

The man who expresses the belief that Socialist Charley Dohbs has a chance of being elected to Congress from Louisville stamps himself as lacking knowledge and judgment. But that's what Debs said last Sunday, and he is a candidate for President of the United States.

How are Socialists going to get possession of all the land, railroads, manufacturing plants, business blocks, banks, church and school property, machinery, etc.? Will they confiscate or purchase all capital now used in production and exchange?

Catholics who receive the Menace should pass it to their Protestant neighbor. In this way they will hasten its death. No fair-minded person will knowingly contribute to the support of such a unreliable publication.

Gen. King has abandoned the "Guardians of Bigotry," and Gen. Dan Sickles has said he will also send in his resignation. When the light strikes the "Guardians" they will disintegrate.

That was a great Democratic gathering at Lexington on Thursday. It means a majority of 100,000 for Wilson and Marshall.

Will some Socialist tell us how the co-operative commonwealth will determine the income of each worker?

The Eucharistic Congress was the best ever held. Ireland wants it for 1914.

Ample arrangements have been made to entertain their friends with the best that the country can supply. Refreshments, ice cream and cake will be dispensed by the young ladies of the parish, whilst a stately fish warden will look after the minnows who seek their luck in the mysterious pond. A special feature of the day will be the croquet contest, which is to decide who are the champions of this locality. Stithton is only thirty miles from Louisville on the Illinois Central railroad and but an hour's run from the city. Trains leave Seventh-street station at 7:35 a. m., returning at 4:50 p. m.
